The Problem

School and club fundraising organisers eg:

- P&C/P&F Committees
- sporting clubs
- fete organisers
- kindy fundraisers
- scouts and guides)

were time-poor volunteers with a high turnover and not much handover or guidance. They were reinventing the wheel all of the time and didn't know where to look for help!!

Our Solution

- Created a supplier directory
- Developed a massive library of resources
- Built an amazing community of school and club volunteers

Does anyone use publisher to produce their posters/flyers? For those that load posters on FB how do you do that? (I'm not very tech minded...sorry Nicholas Pyers I personally use Apple's Pages or even Keynote (both are free for iPad and Mac users... there's even a web based version) and export the files to PDF or JPEG.

Others swear by Canva.... See more

Unsolicited Advice

- Don't listen to unsolicited advice
- A 'business' is just a clever idea until someone hands over money
- Stay fun!
- Persistence overcomes resistance

Working on this project

- Complex scope of work >> four revisions before kick-off
- Complete backend re-build and data migration process
- Migration of system management to WordPress
- AWS Hosting including staging setup
- Regular catch-ups to discuss project progress and deliverables

Working with Mandy's enthusiasm, our approach was to...

- Largely humour her
- Educate her on the value of site speed vs. app funkiness, and
- Always consider maintenance costs and the longer term plays

As a WordPress builder, this is our advice to you:

- Keep the plugins to a minimum (or at least use them on a page-by-page basis)
- Back-up your site every night (especially if you're an eCommerce merchant)
- Understand that WordPress has its limitations, but is extremely powerful if you take the time to weigh up the areas of strength, weaknesses and where you may choose to go custom in places
